H. L. Tepe, assistant cashier of the Citizens bank, and his family, will go to Phoenix the middle of next week. Mr. Tepe is delegate from the Federated church Sunday school to the State Sunday School convention. His family will remain in Phoenix for the balance of the winter.

LOCAL BREVITIES

T. E. Pollock spent Tuesday in Ash Fork, loading sheep.

W. S. Beard has a new truck for use on his mail route to Tuba City.

Billy Phillips, of Needles, was in town on Wednesday for short visits with Loren Cress and other friends here.

Miss Virginia Cartwright, sister of Mrs. G. M. Archer, who has been here for a couple of weeks, visiting, will return to her home in Los Angeles next week.

Carl Dickinson came in from the Apache Maid ranch on Wednesday after supplies and to get his Stutz car, which he will drive back home by way of Ash Fork.

Jack Crab shipped a carload of calves to Phoenix Tuesday. The D K outfit have been cutting down their year's increase to prevent overstocking the range.

Mrs. A. Schreffler, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. L. M. Breen, and other relatives in Flagstaff the past month, left Thursday morning for her home in Kankakee, Ill.

The City Drug store is installing a new soda fountain, and Manager Ross Denman says he'll soon be serving the most delicious cream, syrup and soda confections ever deglutified.

Mrs. Charlie Larson came up from Williams on Wednesday afternoon to be with her handsome husband during some of the later days of his winning campaign for the state senatorship.

R. C. ("Dick") Jones, who has been spending the past few weeks in Phoenix, returned Tuesday in order to be present among those who will scatter their votes across the big ticket next Tuesday.

Jack Smith is in this week from his ranch on Oak Creek. He says it is still summer down there and all is quiet, except when a bunch of candidates stir things up on their way through.

Judge X. N. Steeves, of Williams, was in Flagstaff Monday on legal business.

State Adjutant General Walter S. Ingalls, of Phoenix, was in town for a few days last week.

Wm. Roden expects to leave soon for Elk Grove, Calif., where he expects to spend a part of the winter at least.

Joe Hanley was up from Winslow on Sunday to visit his mother, Mrs. Margaret Hanley, and his brother, Frank Hanley.

George Negray, of the Arizona Central bank, is making the life of the ducks for a dozen miles around almost not worth living. He is on vacation.

Charles Murray intends building a dance hall at his auto station at the junction of the Winslow-Grand Canyon road, east of Flagstaff, for use next summer.

The Flagstaff Milling Co. is now ready to furnish the people with chicken and other ground feeds, at a substantial saving under prices asked elsewhere.

The ladies of the American Legion Auxiliary are meeting weekly now. The last meeting, yesterday afternoon, was at the home of Mrs. F. A. Morse, 404 N. Beaver St.

Sam H. Sweitzer is another who had a buck inclination, but didn't get the buck fever when the opportunity came to shoot. Consequently he brought one home with him.

H. M. Stark, democratic candidate for representative, and Billy Rittenhouse, democratic candidate for supervisor, both of Williams, were in Flagstaff Tuesday, seeing the voters.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Brosa were in town on Saturday from their ranch, rather glad, apparently, of the storm and the opportunity it gave for a rest from the hard work of several months.

Alf Dickinson, proprietor of the Pine Hotel, proudly announces that he has finished the extensive repainting job that has been smelling things up in the hotel for the last month. Each of the guest rooms—walls, floor and ceiling—has a new coat of paint.

Mrs. S. J. Holsinger, of Berkeley, Calif., is here visiting Mrs. C. A. Greenlaw. Mrs. Holsinger and her late husband were former residents here; then later lived at Meteor mountain, where Mr. Holsinger was interested in developing the Meteor mine and in the sheep business.

Mrs. C. W. Heiser expects to go to Los Angeles this week to be with Mr. Heiser for a month or more. The latter, who went there several months ago, has to undergo a serious surgical operation and his physicians will not undertake it until Mrs. Heiser is present.

T. H. Cureton, of Williams, dropped in on several of his numerous friends up here on Saturday. He came up on business, but managed to spare a few moments to talk over the political situation, in which he has the good taste and good fortune to be on the right side of the fence.

H. B. Fay is home for a few days from Winslow, where he has been headquartered while doing several months' surveying work for the outfit that has been getting ready to drill for the big meteor in Meteor mountain. He reports that actual drilling begins this week.

Postmaster Charlie Heisser on Sunday proved that he hasn't forgotten how to shoot by going out for a few hours and bringing back a big buck. Charlie, however, disclaims any of the credit, which he says, belongs to that keen-eyed rifleman, C. L. Fleck, who shot the animal in the leg, after which Charlie gave him one in the head.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Borum went to Leupp and beyond on Sunday, returning Monday.

Fred J. Lusk left on Tuesday for Kingman and one or two other points west, on a few days' business trip.

C. T. Woolfolk went to Grand Canyon on Thursday, to be gone for a couple of days. He spent Wednesday in Winslow.

Mr. Thompson, assistant tax agent of the Santa Fe, of Los Angeles, spent a day or so in Flagstaff the last of last week.

Charlie Heisser went to Spring Valley with a lot of candidates Monday night to see how they look on the political rostrum.

J. W. Etter, the Dead Man's Flat ranchman, was in town first of the week trying to find out if the weather man really means to start winter right now.

Superior Court Judge J. E. Jones spent several days of last week and this week in Phoenix, where he occupied the bench for one of the Maricopa county judges.

John Zalaha, general manager of the industries at Cooley, who has been here for a week on business, plans returning tomorrow. Mrs. Zalaha and the children will remain here for a week longer.

Henderson Stockton, the Phoenix attorney, arrived here on Tuesday to pore over a few legal matters with local attorneys and to address the democrats at their local rally on Tuesday night. Henderson says that one of these days he's going to buy or build him a home up here.

Joseph C. Brown, only brother of J. C. Brown, proprietor of the newsstand, who had been here for a week visiting, left Saturday to return to his home in Camden, N. J., where he is passenger yardmaster of the Pennsylvania R. R. This was his first visit here, and though the weather was bad during his entire stay, he went away enthusiastic over this country, promising to come back next year with his family for a longer visit.

Joe Schmidt, George Negray, Si Lawhead and H. S. Gilmer went to Lake Mary after ducks the first of the week. They came away with nearly thirty. Negray and Lawhead tipped their canoe over and did a little unscheduled ducking. Negray, to prove himself the all-around unluckiest guy in the bunch, stuck the muzzle of his gun in the mud, then fired it, the result being an explosion in said muzzle that made it look like an electric fan.

J. H. O'Riley, president of the Arizona Life Insurance company of Phoenix, was in Flagstaff the latter part of last week looking up men and business for his company. Joe O'Riley is one of the best insurance men in the business in the west. The Arizona Life is the second company of this kind he has organized within the past few years in the Southwest and the new company is a live, husky youngster with an outlook for a brilliant success.

In making prices we owe these overcoats an apology

How would you like to be making $5,000 a year and have the Joneses next door think you were getting only $3,500?

That's how our overcoats feel at the prices we've marked 'em. They're worth more, and what's more they are bringing more in 9 out of every 10 clothing stores in the state.

And if the coats could talk we'd get a severe reprimand for holding their social position down to such commonplace figures.

At 50—they're worth 60. At 60—they are handsome as anything at 75.

Thoroughbred Ulsters, Blue Blood Chesterfields, Thoroughbred Belters—Everyone with the earmarks of a hundred dollar bill in everything but the price mark.
